

north coast library federation

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

The North Coast Library Federation is comprised of seven public libraries with full membership, and one academic library with associate membership.

The board chairs of the respective public libraries form the board of the Federation. The Federation chair rotates between the board members – a new person is chosen each year at the annual general meeting.

The head librarians at each library act as advisors to the board.

Since the library at Northwest Community College is an associate member, it holds no voting privileges, but its head librarian still acts as one of the advisors.

Below is the list of the Federation's board members, librarians, and employees, current as of May, 2011.
